

The Reluctant Reader: SQUASH the RESISTANCE!

Do you have a child who finds the reading process difficult and overwhelming? Has your child complained he/she hates to read? If so, please join Lisa Mullarkey for her workshop: The Reluctant Reader: Squash the Resistance.

Lisa wears many hats: teacher, librarian, children's author and mother of two young children. (One of them is a former reluctant reader.) She combines her expertise in these areas and presents a plethora of strategies, ideas, and tips on how to squash the resistance to books and turn kids (any age!) into life-long readers.

Her extensive experience with young readers and children's literature have made her a valuable resource to parents and colleagues and her enthusiastic, passionate, presentations have been heralded as informative, resourceful and extremely helpful. Please visit her website at www.lisamullarkey.com for more information.